HOUSTON — Theatre Under The Stars canceled all remaining performances of Disney's The Little Mermaid through December 24.

Unfortunately, due to break-through COVID-19 cases among the cast and crew of our production of Disney's *The Little Mermaid, and in compliance with the operating guidelines of the artist unions with whom we work, we are closing the production of The Little Mermaid early.

Despite working diligently over the last several days to find alternatives allowing the show to go forward as scheduled, we have exhausted all of our resources which would have allowed us to proceed.

"We know how disappointing this is for you so many of you have made us your holiday tradition - and we are deeply apologetic. We were so looking forward to sharing the magic and joy of The Little Mermaid with you, your friends, and families," said Artistic Director Dan Knechtges.

Those needing to speak to guest services regarding their performance should reach out to the Theatre Under The Stars Box Office by email at guestservices@tuts.com.
